

UNABLE TO HIT AT RIGHT TIME

Opportunities Many for Diggers at Mansfield.

TIGERS BUNCH THEIR HITS

Four in One Inning Sew up the Contest.

Schance Allows Marion but Two Safeties—Lucas as Pinch-Hitter Gets Safe Hit.

(By R. V. Sawhl)

Mansfield, June 5.—(Special).—With Schanze pitching shut out ball and by bunching hits off of Hancock in the fourth inning, the Tigers romped away with the opening game of the Marion series. Mansfield 4 Marion 1.

Mansfield showed some judgment in making their safeties. All told in the nine innings they landed safely on Hancock but five times. With admirable forethought they bunched four of these in one inning, scoring four runs and the victory. Marion did not pursue the same policy, simply because their hits were too few to be deserving of the title of bunched. Their sole run was underserved while the quartet collected by the Tigers came as the result of clean hitting.

This makes the second victory within a week for Schanze against the Diggers. He slipped over an 8 to 4 victory against them on last Saturday. The young southpaw twirled a splendid game, and although wild was effective enough to pinch-hit him. He walked seven of the visitors and hit one, making a total of eight men that reached first without touching the ball. However, he fanned nine and kept any hits from following his walks. He walked two in the first, one in the second, one in the third, hit one in the fourth, passed one in the fifth and two in the eighth. Wolfe was walked on each of his four appearances at the plate. Schanze fanned one in the first, three in the second, and one each in the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and ninth. He started the game by fanning O'Day and ended the game by whiffing the manager. Bull Williams drove a safe one through the infield in the opener while Lucas batting after two were down in the ninth turned the same trick. Every ball lifted out of the infield was an easy chance for the gardeners.

Hancock twirled good ball outside of the fourth but was in trouble most of the way. After holding the locals hitless for three innings, four of the first six men to face him in the fourth hit safely. He was also wild, issuing four passes and failing to fan a batter. He managed to keep the Tigers hitting the ball on the ground, the visiting infield having nineteen chances, seventeen of which were handled cleanly.

A pretty exhibition of head work on the part of Breymaier in the opening inning saved some trouble for the locals. In that inning after O'Day had whiffed, Wolfe and Farrell were walked. Williams drove one through second and the bases were filled. Smith made a nice throw to the plate holding Wolfe on third. Staley popped one down only a few inches from the plate and Schanze threw to Breymaier forcing Wolfe. Red Farrell on second had the idea that the ball was foul and remained standing at second while the visitors started arguing with Handboe that the hit was not a fair one. Hezy grasped the situation and threw to Flood forcing Farrell. Schanze fanned Watkins, Willoughby and Hancock in the second so that the pass to Johnstone was not productive of any damage. He walked Wolfe in the second with one down but Farrell and Williams were easy. Watkins was hit in the fourth but Johnstone fanned out and Willoughby fanned. Wolfe was again walked in the fifth with two but but Farrell grounded out. None of the visitors reached first in the sixth and seventh but they scored in the eighth. O'Day was safe when Davy allowed his grounder to go through him and Wolfe was walked. Farrell also coaxed a pass and the bases were filled with none out. Williams fouled out to Flood and Staley forced Wolfe at third while O'Day scored. Watkins drove a hard one at Schanze but the southpaw knocked it down in great style. With two out in the ninth Lucas singled but O'Day was easy.

Mansfield got a man to second and one on first on a hit batsman, a sacrifice and a pass but no damage followed. Flood got to second in the second on a pass and a sacrifice but no farther. None on in the third but in the fourth Biery singled. Davy surprised Willoughby and drove one through him when he laid in for a sacrifice. Flood fouled out but Kettler drove one to right field and Biery scored. Breymaier singled to center and two runs scored. Hezy went to third when Johnstone allowed the throw in to go through him. Schanze beat out a punt and Hezy scored. Meehan was passed but Guadlinger grounded out and Schanze was run down between third and home. Smith was passed in the fifth but was caught stealing. Meehan singled in the seventh with one down and reached third.

Lima, June 5.—In a very exciting 11-inning contest Lima won the first game of the series with Lancaster here today, 1 to 0. In a dispute over a decision in the fifth inning, Reynolds hit Umpire McDermott and both he and Manager Fox were ordered from the grounds. With two men out, two men on bases, three balls and two strikes on him, Miller hit a liner to right, scoring a winning run. Score:

The splendid showing of the Boston Red Sox in the American league race is due mostly to the good work of the men with the stick. Manager Fred Lake's ball tossers have been hitting the ball for keeps since the start, and should they be able to keep it up several members of the team are sure to finish in the 300 class at the end of the season. This Speaker, who cavitates around in center field for the Red Sox, is at present leading his league in batting with a percentage of .357. Speaker looks to be one of the best men who have broken into the American league since the days of Ty Cobb and promises to be just as big a sensation. He is a finished ball player both at the bat and in the field, and he keeps up his present clip may give Cobb the tussle of his career to win the batting championship.

TWO LIONS CAUSE A PANIC IN MISSOURI

St. Charles, Mo., June 5.—Two full grown lions, running through the streets of St. Charles, scattered a carnival crowd in terror and emptied the big car shops when they were driven to bay in the shop yards. Showmen captured the lions an hour after their escape, and after one of them had fatally bitten a pony and the other had attacked an elephant.

More than 2,000 women and children were on the streets. Suddenly there was a cry "The lions." Men, women and children turned and fled, none stopping long enough to see that the lions were not coming towards them, but had taken the other direction. In five minutes the streets were deserted. The showmen had the town all to themselves. The men finally succeeded in catching the lions with lassoes and bound their legs. The animals were then placed in a portable cage.

There is more Oatarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years, doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure it with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven oatarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case if it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

MALLISTER'S BATTING STRONG

Portsmouth Player Entitled to Second Place.

Duffy Third and Williams Fourth Place—Lewis Leads as the Local Reavers—The Averages.

The fifth week of the Ohio State league season was complete with surprises of various kinds, the most noteworthy of which was the overhauling and passing of Lima momentarily, a feat accomplished by the Portsmouth club. Billy Doyles' lads have played a remarkably fast game for the past two weeks and did especially well in the fifth week. At the opening of the week it looked as though Lima had a safe lead and was to hold undisputed the place where Fohl has kept his club since opening day. The fact that Lima was overhauled, even for a day, has more than encouraged the other States and fans of the circuit are all hopeful that their favorites will be able to accomplish what Portsmouth has done.

Another surprise of the week has been the reversal of form shown by the Marion Diggers. O'Day believes that he has chased the hoodoo that has been hovering over the club and expects within another fortnight to have the club in the first division. From sixth to fourth place the Diggers moved during the week.

Lancaster more than held its own in the week and closed up much of the gap between it and the two leaders. Mansfield lost ground as did Newark. The latter club is having a hard time of it just now with Manager Davidson on crutches. But there is good talent on that club and when the manager returns to the game Newark may be expected to accomplish more than in the past. The attendance during the past week has been far more encouraging to the club owners than any time since the opening of the season. The Memorial day games broke all records despite the threatening weather. The race is close, it is possible for any club in the league to win the pennant, and brighter days will bring out record crowds during this week.

Red Gowdy, of Lancaster, remains at the top of the list of Ohio State league sluggers. The Columbus boy is pounding the ball at a .415 clip, gaining 6 points during the week. Last year he was taken out because he could not hit. Gowdy is yet a youngster but he is already attracting the attention of the big league scouts. He is a big rangy lad, full of pepper and has learned much baseball under the guiding hand of Manager Fox. His work with the Lanks this season has been nothing less than sensational.

Entitled to second place is McAllister, of Portsmouth, whose great hitting has done much toward putting Portsmouth close to the top. Captain Duffy, of Portsmouth, is third and Williams, O'Day's big Indian is fourth. The last named leads the league in run-getting with 21. A. Reilly, of Lima, is second with 18 runs and leads in stolen bases with 17. Lefty Snyder of Newark, has 14 sacrifice hits.

KILLED THE JAGUAR.

The Terrible Boa Constrictor of the Mexican Jungle.

I had been traveling for about an hour, trying to locate the source of the Santa Rita and winning every inch of ground by hacking and slashing with the machete, when I was started by a most fearful scream, which seemed to come from somewhere immediately behind me. Turning round and looking back over the trail I had just made, I saw a great commotion taking place among the vines, dead leaves and decaying branches which carpeted the ground, and the blood-curdling screams I had heard rang out again and again. Returning a little nearer, I discovered a "tiger," or, properly speaking, a jaguar or American leopard, and it was writhing in the coils of an enormous boa constrictor. The great snake appeared to have the side of the jaguar's head in its mouth and a coil or two of its body around the neck of the beast, which was making frantic efforts to regain its liberty. The snake had its tail coiled round a small oblong tree about a foot in diameter, and whenever the hapless jaguar relaxed its efforts the serpent would swiftly release itself from the tree and make an attempt to get another coil around the body of its opponent.

I stood there fascinated with horror and yet forgetting my fear in the interest I was taking in this terrible fight between beast and reptile. Presently the snake with an incomprehensibly quick movement succeeded in getting two more coils around the body of the jaguar, but not without receiving severe laceration from the formidable claws of its victim. Then, letting go the jaguar's head, where it seemed to have a firm hold, the boa constrictor raised its head seemingly in triumph and, with its tail still wrapped round the tree, lifted the body of the jaguar up in the air. I heard the bones crack under the fearful strain, and with one awful, despairing scream the jaguar fell back, dead!—World Wide Magazine.

THE SHIP'S CAPTAIN.

At Sea He is a Czar, and His Authority is Absolute.

When you have passed down through the Narrows and then passed Sandy Hook you see a man in whiskers and a red cap climbing down a rope ladder that drops him into a waiting boat. It is the pilot. You have dropped the last link connecting you with shore except wireless telegraphy, and you are now a member of a community that for a few days, a week, is as much an entity as any nation.

The captain is pacing the bridge. Until you reach shore again he is your overlord. His decision is final and with your appeal. He can order you locked in your stateroom or he can put you in irons.

If occasion arises he can alter the course of the ship and land you wherever he pleases. You have recourse when you get ashore, but if he wants to drop you at the Azores when you have paid passage to Bremen he can and will do it.

His authority extends to every part of the ship alike, from the cargo to the saloon deck and from the engine room to the scullery. Navigating a ship is a ticklish business and one that requires that there be no division of the highest authority. So, for the brief period until he touches port, he is your czar.

The ship is a great community, sometimes with a population of 5,000 souls. Living, eating and sleeping under one roof. It has its policemen, its firemen, cooks, butchers, bakers, doctors, clerks, carpenters, electricians, boiler-makers and a host of personal servants.

Her Bargain.

An Old City man, who was detained at the house for a part of the day, handed his wife, who was going downtown, a quarter of a dollar and requested her to get him three cigars for it, according to the billiard. When she returned she handed him the package, remarking exultantly: "That shows that women can beat men all hollow when it comes to making purchases. I found a place where I could get eight for a quarter instead of three. Isn't that going some?" And the poor man, as he took his medicine, merely remarked: "It certainly is, dear."

Stoats Hunt in Packs.

In some years stoats appear to be more numerous than in others, and they are seen not in ones and twos, but in dozens, hunting together in small packs. Stoats will hunt together from scent and in full cry like a pack of hounds, one always keeping the line and followed closely by the others. This sight has been recorded by different observers who have also seen weasels hunting in the same way.—Far News.

The Resemblance.

RUSSIAN PRINCE

slipped loosely in his girdle, went to the dinner.

The two sat opposite each other. Their conversation was bright, full of wit, and of the kind that two friends might have enjoyed rather than two men who had sworn to kill each other.

The wine flowed, the smoke hung lazily over the banquet hall. Prince Bagration piled his companion with liquor. Their talk became sayer, but the words of Prince Bagration began to take on a tinge of meaning.

Erstoff heard, but heeded not for a time. Then came a remark lauding something in the career of the famous Bagration of the Napoleonic wars. A sudden hush fell upon the company. Men looked uneasily at one another.

Erstoff heard this, too. A look of determination flashed across his face as if he meant here to end it all for better or for worse. "You lie, my lord," he said calmly, at the same instant reaching across the table and with his handkerchief flicking Prince Bagration across the mouth.

Bagration rose swiftly, with dagger already drawn, leaned forward, and before the other could raise his arm, plunged the long weapon into his enemy's body to the hilt.

Erstoff fell. As he fell Bagration with head erect and eyes flashing, made his way toward the door.

And the nobles stood in two long lines to let him pass.
